

Imaginative

Someone who is imaginative thinks outside the box and tries to complete tasks using more than what she is handed. Being imaginative is one of my good personal qualities. Every once in a while I get this burst of creativity. I make some of my clothes using my sewing machine with fabric from clothes I don't wear, or I buy fabric at the local fabric store. I really enjoy designing collages, and I have to admit, I am a complete addict for redesigning my room! Ever since I was old enough to walk, I always wanted to build things. I love putting things together and making good use out of my resources. I recently got a new bedroom set, and I got to put it all together!!! I love using tools, and I love seeing my success in the end! I feel that being imaginative can truly help a person succeed. Having an open mind and doing things that are a little off-beat, can really help people accomplish something in life.

Ingenuous

Honesty..now this is something you don't hear about much these days. No way! You should approach life in an honest way. Being sincere, honest and frank are extremely important to me. I feel that with honesty, comes everything. I am a friendly neighbor who does good deeds. I really like to watch my neighbor, Gloria's house when she goes away. I pick up her paper and water her lawn. I feel trusted, especially when she asks me to do it again. I also baby-sit for my other neighbor Laura. She has two boys and I watched them throughout the summer. I think it's really cool that she trusts me enough to leave me with her one and two year old, in her house, for up to five hours! I really like watching her kids, and I really like watering Gloria's lawn and picking up her paper. These little things that I do can impact people so much and that's what I love about being trustworthy! I know that if my neighbors ever need anything they can come over to my house and I will help them in any way that I can!

Empathetic

I really like helping out. I have contributed to several different organizations. For the past five years I have been helping Project Cuddle. It's a non-profit organization for abused and abandoned babies. My mom held the walk a thon in 1999 and raised thousands of dollars. And the best part is being able to be a part of it. I've gone to volunteer at Christmas parties and anniversary parties for these children that were saved through this wonderful program. It's so wonderful to get that feeling that you are really contributing to something important. I have also, through my church, Holy Spirit, volunteered at soup kitchens and delivered Thanksgiving Dinners and Christmas Dinners to the less fortunate families. The most recent volunteer opportunity I had was to give manicures to either teen-age pregnant women or new-teen age mothers. It was a mind-boggling experience, but it really opened up my eyes. Helping people is my passion, and I will never stop. If you ever need help, come to me! I would love to help you out!
